A Current Affair Segment

A segment was aired on Thursday 6th May 2021 on “A Current Affair” (ACA) that focussed on the impending AustAgri transaction and which DomaCom Limited (ASX:DCL) (‘DomaCom’ or ‘the Company’) believes contains false and misleading information including:

- The ACA segment implied that the announcement of the proposed acquisition of AustAgri Group Limited (AustAgri) by the DomaCom Fund on 4th September 2020 increased the DomaCom share price from 3 cents to 10 cents. The price prior to the announcement was in fact 8 cents and the subsequent movement in price was in the usual course of trade.
- The ACA segment stated that the $7 million deposit for the acquisition of Cedar Meats by AustAgri was paid by a third party on AustAgri's behalf. In fact, the deposit was paid by a director and significant shareholder of AustAgri at the time who remains a significant shareholder to this date.
- The ACA segment stated that Mr Phillip Barros was the sole director and shareholder of International Capital Group Australia Pty Ltd (ICGP) which owns a sizable number of AustAgri shares. This is not true as ASIC records show that Mr Barros was not a director and did not own shares in ICGP at the time the segment was published.
- The ACA segment stated that DomaCom was purchasing AustAgri. This is not true as the proposal is for the DomaCom Sub-fund to acquire AustAgri via a scheme of arrangement where the AustAgri shareholders exchange their shares for units in a new sub-fund within the DomaCom fund.

DomaCom CEO, Arthur Naoumidis, said:

“As a significant mainstream media organisation, A Current Affair wields a lot of power against small companies and individuals such as DomaCom and myself. This power should be balanced with a responsibility to check facts.”

“In addition to the significant corporate impact these allegations have had on DomaCom, the allegations have caused significant personal distress and embarrassment to not only myself but also to my family, staff and our shareholders.”

DomaCom is exploring what legal remedies may be available to it regarding this matter.
